Everything In Readiness For Sixth Orbital Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Everything was officially ready Sunday for the projected flight six times around the world Wednesday by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Schirra and other top personnel of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration ran through a complete mission review Sunday.

Schirra and his backup pilot, Leroy Gordon Cooper, took up residence two days ago at Hangar S, just 15 minutes by van from Launch Pad 14.

On this pad sits a 362,000-pound-thrust Atlas, which is to hurl Schirra into space. Should Schirra become incapacitated before the launch time, his place in the 4,200 pound space capsule, called Sigma 7, will be taken by Cooper. With the projected flight now less than 72 hours away, the two men were placed on a low residue diet. After the morning meeting neither man had a schedule to do anything other than relax.

Pacific Landing Planned

If Schirra goes the full six orbits as planned, he will land 275 miles northeast of Midway Island in the Pacific. It was off Midway that the United States won one of its greatest naval battles, turning back a vast Japanese armada on June 3-6, 1942.

Where great ships once deployed for war, they are now spreading out to rescue Schirra after his flight.

There are nine possible areas in the Atlantic where he could come down in an emergency or at the end of any orbit through three. Anything beyond three orbits will bring him down in the Pacific.

Weather, always a factor in U. S. launches, must be perfect in all 11 possible landing areas in the two oceans. At last reports, wind and wave conditions in all were suitable for landing, or expected to become so by launch time.

Ocean weather conditions are hard to predict, however, and the favorable picture could change in a matter of hours.

The Schirra flight is primarily designed to test engineering requirements for a 24-hour flight next year—18 orbits.

Among the problems it is hoped the Schirra flight will solve is the amount of water needed for cooling the astronaut during the longer flight and the amount of hydrogen peroxide fuel needed to power the small jets which are used to stabilize the capsule's position in relation to the earth.

Scientific by-products of the flight are expected to accrue through use of a camera with color film to take pictures of mountain areas, earthquake fault zones, volcanic fields, meteor impact areas and glaciers.

Macmillan In Corner Over Market

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—Britain's Labor Party leaders privately claimed Sunday to have crowded Prime Minister Macmillan into a dangerous political corner on the common market issue.

A heady mood of confidence swept through the Laborite ranks on the eve of the party's annual conference in this elegant old seaside resort.

For the first time in more than a decade the party believes it has come up with an election-winning policy hammered out by its 56-year-old leader, Hugh Gaitskill.

Simply stated, the Laborites demand that Prime Minister Macmillan get better terms for taking Britain into the six-nation common market or call off the deal. To this, Gaitskill adds that Macmillan should arrange a national election before committing Britain to a link-up with Europe.

The conference itself—when it considers the matter Wednesday—is expected to give Wednesday approval to these concepts, which bitterly disappoint the pro-common market elements within the Labor Party.

Gaitskill knows Macmillan intends to take Britain into the common market generally along the lines now being negotiated in Brussels. He also realizes Macmillan has no intention of appealing to the British electorate before such a historic British move.

For the prime minister to do otherwise would represent a form of political suicide for the governing Conservative Party. By law, Britain must elect a new House of Commons within the next two years. Macmillan hopes to have this island kingdom safely in the common market before that deadline is reached.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired beauty was entered as Miss Pennsylvania Tobaccos Queen. Her previous contest honors included Miss Montgomery County and runner-up in the Miss Pennsylvania contest.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Marian Dodge.

New Yemen Regime Makes More Arrests

ADEN (AP)—Yemen's new military regime, strengthened by friendly words from the Soviet Union and United Arab Republic, announced Sunday more arrests and executions in a wave of bloodletting.

Col. Abdullah Sallal, premier and head of the revolutionary council of the newly proclaimed republic, apparently tightened his grip in the isolated Red Sea country.

Throne Is Claimed

Prince Saif al Islam al Hassan claimant to the throne vacated by the assassination of his nephew, Imam Mohammed Al-Badr, flew to a council of war in neighboring Saudi Arabia. He claimed in a communique that tribal warriors were marching against the revolutionary regime at the capital of Sana from three directions.

But there was no way to verify these claims. What exactly was happening shrouded behind the mystery of Yemen's closed borders. The radio at Sana, controlled by the military regime, was almost the only source of information.

The radio announced that five more members of the royal family and its supporters were executed Saturday, bringing to 17 the total executions announced since the uprising last Wednesday. But all executions probably have not been reported.

Hassan reported the execution of 20 in a wave of "murderous terrorism," in addition to those slain on the day of the revolt, and said many others were "being held for execution, a few each day, to satisfy the blood lust of mad leaders."

Yemeni sources here estimated 70 members of the royal family and retainers were slaughtered when rebels shelled and seized the royal palace at Sana.

"Those who collaborated with the old regime will pay for their mistakes," said radio Sana reporting a speech by Col. Sallal.

A people's court was set up for public trials in the mountain-ringed capital, the radio said. Royalists shot by the new regime included Al Hassan Bin Ali, cousin of the imam's brother-in-law, Abdullah Abdul Karmi; Mohammed Abbas, governor of Bagel district; religious judge Abdul Rahman Assiaghli, and Ali Al Attif, sheikh of Hamdahn district.

The imam's cousin was education minister and acting foreign minister before the army seized power eight days after Badr assumed the throne on the death of his father, 70-year-old Imam Ahmad.

Between recordings of U.A.R. military music and Yemeni songs the radio announced a message from Moscow giving full support to the new republic and offering "any aid—economic, cultural, political or military."

Sec. Dean Rusk Says

No U.S.-USSR Deal Possible For Berlin-Cuba Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk ruled out Sunday any possibility of a U.S.-Soviet deal to end Russian intervention in Cuba for Western concessions on Berlin or an American base abroad.

"You cannot support freedom in one place by surrendering freedom in another," Rusk said in a pre-recorded television interview (ABC-News and Comment).

"In any event, we have special commitments here in this hemisphere under our hemisphere charters, and we cannot connect in negotiations or in trades the problem of Cuba with the defense of freedom in other places."

His remarks were made in response to a question about some possible U.S.-Soviet deal. There has been speculation in congressional and diplomatic quarters here and in New York that the Soviet government might try to use its position in Cuba to pry U.S. concessions on West Berlin.

Rusk made also what amounted to an appeal to keep the Cuban problem out of partisan political debate during the fall congressional election campaigns, through he said that "vigorous debate (on the Cuban situation) is to be desired."

"I would hope," he continued, "that what the moderates and conservatives throughout the hemisphere are losing their complacency about Castroism and are becoming more and more active and concerned about it."

He said also that the Castro regime "has been losing the sympathy of what might be called the Democratic left."

Next Tuesday Rusk will meet with foreign ministers or other top representatives of 19 other Western Hemisphere countries to talk about possible future moves on Cuba. Rusk said the meeting will be informal and will not make decisions but that from preliminary soundings in New York last week he is certain "it will be a very profitable and worthwhile meeting."

He said it is true that Communists are becoming "more vocal" in the Western Hemisphere but it is also true that "we are seeing a rapidly growing solidarity with respect to Cuba."

"It is quite clear," he continued, "that the moderates and conservatives throughout the hemisphere are losing their complacency about Castroism and are becoming more and more active and concerned about it."

He said also that the Castro regime "has been losing the sympathy of what might be called the Democratic left."

Meredith Is On 'Ole Miss' Campus

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Sunday night he hopes to avoid use of National Guardsmen and federal troops in the University of Mississippi integration crisis.

Kennedy told the nation federal court orders "are beginning to be carried out. Mr. James Meredith is in residence on the campus of the University of Mississippi."

He said this had been accomplished thus far without the use of troops, adding that he hoped the faculty and students at Ole Miss could now return to their regular pursuits with respect for the laws of the United States.

Spouse Thrown In

Before Kennedy went on the air, Gov. Ross Barnett had virtually thrown in the sponge in his struggle to prevent Meredith from enrolling in the university. Shortly before Kennedy started speaking, students were reported to be rioting on the campus at Oxford. Marshals retaliated with tear gas.

In a swift series of developments:

1. A potent force of U.S. marshals entered the campus and took control of the registration building.

2. Meredith himself arrived by air at Oxford, site of the university, and quickly got on to the campus. He was assigned an apartment, though university officials said they would not register him on the Sabbath. This was a clear sign he would be enrolled later, probably Monday.

3. Barnett issued a statement that "we are now completely surrounded by armed forces and we are physically overpowered." This was a reference to a force of nearly 6,000 men, including U. S. Army infantrymen, federalized National Guardsmen and Marshals, poised in the general area, or under orders to speed to it.

Barnett, who had sworn to go to jail rather than see the color barrier lowered at the university, now told Mississippians: "We must at all odds preserve the peace and avoid bloodshed."

Kennedy said the nation's liberty and defiance is the road to tyranny. He said the law includes court rulings as well as legislative enactments.

Americans are free to disagree with the law, he said, but not to disobey it. No man under a government of laws, he said, is entitled to defy a court of law.

Reaches The Point

If the country reaches the point where men could long defy the courts or constitution "then no law would stand free from doubt. . . and no citizen would be safe from his neighbors," Kennedy said.

No judge, said Kennedy, could be sure of his writ, or a citizen sure of his neighbor if laws were not obeyed.

Kennedy traced the history of Meredith's attempts to get into the university through a series of court efforts. He told of the decision of the Court of Appeals, naming the justices, all of them from the South, and said they made clear that enforcement of this order is necessary.

"My obligation as President was inescapable," he said. "I accepted."

Without Violence

Kennedy said the object is to achieve the registration of Meredith without violence.

He then listed the various steps taken, including the federalizing of the Mississippi National Guard. "I deeply regret the steps that were taken, but all other methods including conciliation, had been tried," he said.

If Mississippi had accepted the situation the way other Southern universities have, he said, "a sensible, peaceful solution would have been possible."

Kennedy expressed the thanks of the nation to Southerners who have accepted integration at their universities.

He said he recognizes the state of transition is a troublesome one. To the extent that there has been a failure in such attempts, he said, the responsibility "must be shared by us all."

Flood History

Kennedy told a nationwide radio and television audience of the proud history of Mississippi, its war heroes and leaders. He said the Guard unit federalized in the integration crisis has a long history of valor in battle and that

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Paul Guillard, identified as a reporter for the London Daily Sketch, was shot and killed during Sunday night's rioting at the University of Mississippi.

Guillard's body, "with a wound in the back," was found beside a woman's dormitory.

His men were decorated in World War II and Korea.

Kennedy closed with an appeal to the students of the university. He said they had a great tradition to uphold, one of honor on the field of courage and the gridiron as well as the campus.

He said the most effective means of upholding law was not the marshals, the police, or the National Guard, but in the students themselves. And they must accept laws with which they disagree, as well as those with which they agree, he said.

"The eyes of all the world are on you," he said, "and your honor, and the honor of your university are at stake."

"Let us preserve the peace and abide by the law, and then bind up those wounds that are within," he said.

Steps Taken

Here are the steps taken by the Kennedy administration to get Meredith into the university, by force if necessary:

1. Dispatched a battle group of U.S. Army infantrymen—about 1,100 strong—to Memphis, Tenn., to join a rapid-buildup of overwhelming power for use, if need be, at Oxford, 87 miles away.

2. Federalized Mississippi's 11,450 national guardsmen, thus calling them to the national colors. Of these more than 2,900 were ordered to be in Oxford by 10 a.m., EST, Monday. The rest were directed to report to their armories and bases and stand ready.

3. Sent 110 Army engineers to the Oxford vicinity, to set up a tent city and act as housekeeping units for some 500 federal marshals standing ready at Memphis to fly by helicopter to Oxford when the government makes a fourth attempt to register Meredith.

4. Formed a force of about 1,400 military policemen at Memphis. Their function, officials said, would be to form a corridor, and protect the marshals as they escorted Meredith to his long-sought goal—the university.

Thus the Kennedy administration still hoped to avoid the use of regular Army troops in full battle gear—including rifles with bayonets fixed.

But some big questions here were:

...Would the Mississippi National Guard, if it came to a forcible showdown, be sufficiently vigorous in repelling any uprising by their civilian brethren against Meredith's admission?

...If Meredith gains admission, perhaps with troops sitting at desks all around him, would the governor then proclaim the university closed? This could lead to a new round of court fights.

Murder-Accessory Trial Concludes

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—Testimony in the murder-accessory trial of Morris Steinhiser, 19, has concluded with Steinhiser himself and his family taking the stand.

Steinhiser, testifying Saturday, admitted lending a rifle to Charles Ganss Jr., 17, of Cabot, and Donald Montgomery, 19, of Brackendale, in return for a cut of the loot in a robbery he knew they planned to commit.

Ganss and Montgomery have been convicted of murder in the death of Mrs. Pauline Ritter, 67, of Cabot, who died in a closet of her home on Jan. 19 after robbers set fire to it.

Steinhiser said he refused to join in the robbery personally and instead made a deal for a 20 per cent cut in return for the loan of the rifle.

He said Ganss told him the rifle would be used only to "scare" Mrs. Ritter and her husband, Raymond. Ritter also was put into a closet, but he managed to break out and escape the flames.

Steinhiser's mother, sister and brother were called by the defense to testify to his character and to his acquaintance with Ganss and Montgomery.

Also introduced as character evidence was a high school yearbook which noted Steinhiser's ambition "to be a policeman."

With testimony concluded, the defense and prosecution were scheduled to present their summations to the Butler County Court Monday. The case could reach the jury later in the day.

Ganss and Montgomery, convicted of first degree murder, had refused to testify in Steinhiser's trial. Ganss has been sentenced to death; Montgomery faces life imprisonment.

Penn State Coed Elected Queen

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Pennsylvania girl is queen of the 1963 National Tobaccos Festival.

Sandra Dodge of Oreland, a Philadelphia suburb, was crowned by Virginia's Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. Saturday at halftime ceremonies of the West Virginia-Virginia Tech football game.

Miss Dodge, a Penn State University freshman, was selected from a field of 23 princesses. She was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of Tobacco and Candy Distributors.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired beauty was entered as Miss Pennsylvania Tobaccos Queen. Her previous contest honors included Miss Montgomery County and runner-up in the Miss Pennsylvania contest.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Marian Dodge.

Evanston Man To Speak At Christian Science Church

HOW to apply Bible teachings in solving everyday problems will be the topic of a free public lecture on Christian Science to be delivered in Stroudsburg this evening by Arnold H. Exo of Evanston.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Exo will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the church auditorium on Eighth and Monroe Streets, at 8 o'clock this evening. His subject will be "How Christian Science Reveals God's Healing Power."

Mr. Exo is currently on a nationwide lecture tour. A native of Iowa, he had a successful career in the sales and advertising field prior to leaving the business world to devote his full time to the practice of Christian Science. He served as a Christian Science War-time Minister during World War II. He has been an authorized teacher of Christian Science since 1949. He served as First Reader of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts from 1956 to 1959.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Edna Mae Price Found Not Guilty After Trial

EDNA MAE Price, 32, of 75½ Washington St., East Stroudsburg, fainted when a jury of four women and eight men returned a verdict of not guilty because of temporary insanity.

Miss Price was charged with two counts of aggravated assault and battery, two counts of pointing and discharging a weapon, and on one charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

The charges resulted from a shooting incident June 3 in her apartment.

The incident took place when Miss Achterman and Miss Irene Masten arrived at the East Stroudsburg apartment to pick up Miss Masten's belongings.

Miss Price and Miss Masten had shared the apartment until about two weeks before the shooting, when Miss Masten moved in with Miss Achterman.

Testifying in her own behalf on Friday, Miss Price broke into sobs when she related the actual events of the shooting but quickly regained her composure.

During her testimony she had related numerous heavy drinking sessions when the three women had been together socially. She also told of many arguments and misunderstandings between herself and Miss Achterman.

She gave details of several incidents in which Miss Achterman allegedly had struck her and threatened her.

Miss Price told jury members that she had used the gun as a threat to order Miss Achterman out of her apartment the morning of June 3. She said she had requested Miss Achterman not to come to the apartment with Irene when she arranged to pick up her things.

Miss Masten, in her testimony had also revealed there had been some bad blood between Miss Achterman and Miss Price. She told of drinking parties and arguments of misunderstandings that took place most of the time when the three were together.

Eight Area Residents Hurt In Jersey Crash Saturday

EIGHT Monroe County residents were injured Saturday at 12:14 a.m. in a two-car accident near Hackettstown, N. J., on Route 46. The driver of the second car was also injured.

New Jersey State Police, Washington barracks, identified the injured as Harry E. Werkheiser, 39, Tannersville; Mrs. Joyce Werkheiser, Tannersville, and their children, Kathy and Robbin.

Also passengers in the Werkheiser car, James and Betty Snyder, Stroudsburg RD 1, and their two children, Keith and Kevin. The ninth person injured was Michael Dronck, 41, Great Meadows, N. J.

All were taken to the Dover General Hospital, Dover, N. J. A spokesman for the hospital, said the following were admitted: Harry Werkheiser, with a laceration to his forehead; Robbin Werkheiser, with a fractured left arm and left knee, and Dronck, with a fractured leg, jaw and pelvis.

The spokesman listed the condition of the patients as fair and added all other persons in the accident delivered to the hospital were treated and released.

State Police said Dronck was traveling east and swerved into the westbound lane hitting the Werkheiser vehicle head-on.

Troopers Osborn and Orth, investigating the accident, estimated both cars as a total loss. They have made no arrests and are continuing the investigation.

Arrested For Carrying Explosives

STATE POLICE, AT Lehigh, arrested two men over the weekend and committed them to the Carbon County Jail to await hearings.

Michael Corinchock, Tamaqua, RD 2, was arrested for malicious mischief after damaging a 2-inch drainpipe in Munson Twp., Carbon County, with explosives.

State Police upon investigating found the Corinchock car contained nine sticks of Atlas-Jel Coalite, 18 blasting caps, 50 feet of fuse, and 85 feet of prima cord.

He was committed to the Carbon County jail.

Orville C. Gentry, Madison Ave. Horton Highway, Newfield, N.J., was arrested Saturday on the charge of vagrancy. He was committed to Carbon County Jail for 10 days.

Police Check Theft From Parked Car

STROUDSBURG Police are investigating the theft of $200 worth of Army and civilian clothing taken from the parked car of Paul Cramer as it was parked in front of 119 Park Ave., Saturday morning.

Cramer, a serviceman, had arrived in the county on a leave from the U.S. Army.

A neighbor told police that she heard two cars drive by slowly about 4 a.m. and that between 4:30 and 5 a.m. she heard a car start and pull away from the area.

PP&L Applies For New License

WASHINGTON (AP) — An application by Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. for a new 50-year license for its Holtwood Dam Friday was taken under consideration by the Federal Power Commission.

Thomas M. Debevoise, representing the commission staff, opposed the application in oral argument before the agency. He said the commission does not have the power to extend the license prior to its current expiration date June 30, 1970.

Pennsylvania Power & Light proposes to reconstruct and enlarge the facilities of its Holtwood development on the Susquehanna River in York and Lancaster counties.

The firm proposes to boost present capacity of 100,000 kilowatts to an effective capacity of 144,000 kilowatts at a cost of about $9 million.

The FPC, on July 3, 1951, issued a license to Pennsylvania Power & Light for the Holtwood development, backdated to Jan. 1, 1938, and expiring June 30, 1970.

Olaf Pederson, treasurer of Paterson-Kelly Co., said late last night that the company did have a contract with the union.

AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CAR

IMPERIAL CROWN FOUR-DOOR

To everyone who plans to buy an Imperial, Cadillac or Lincoln this year

If you'd like the best perspective on what your next luxury car can offer, begin with a drive in the new Imperial — first luxury car having its power-train warranted* for five years or 50,000 miles.

Your Imperial dealer is ready to furnish one of his new models for your comparison. You'll find Imperial is designed for spaciousness and luxury on the grand scale. Imperial's town-car look is deliberately restrained — and timeless. But its famous roadability is evidence of very timely advances in high-performance power and the largest automatic-adjusting brake system in any American luxury car.

After you've tested and inspected and compared, we'd like your personal judgment of our major premise: that Imperial's differences afford important motoring qualities not found in either Cadillac or Lincoln.

So accept our friendly challenge, please. We're confident that driving an Imperial will influence your ideas about what a luxury car should be and should do.

*Your authorized Imperial Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts; torque converter; drive shaft; universal joints (excluding dust covers); rear axle and differential; and rear wheel bearing. Provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Chrysler Certified Car Care schedules. Factory approved remanufactured parts may be used for replacement.

FAULTY WIRE is believed to have started the fire that destroyed Scotty's Fashion, near Pen Argyl, Friday night. Photo shows entire building engulfed by flames.

Pen Argyl Fire Laid To Wiring; Firm To Continue

PEN ARGYL—Fire Chief Lawrence Hahn, Plainfield Township, said that the probable cause for the $200,000 fire that destroyed Scotty's Fashion Friday was due to faulty wiring.

He added, "The consensus of opinion of fire chiefs on the scene was that faulty wiring ignited the blaze that gutted the cutting factory."

Amelio Scott of Pen Argyl, owner of the firm, said last night that he was considering renting three or four locations in the Pen Argyl area to set up operations on a temporary basis.

He added that the operation would have to be split up because there is no area building large enough for a single unit of the operation.

Scott said he would rebuild the factory, but, he noted, his insurance coverage will not cover the costs for replacement of the building.

He said the inventory records were apparently lost in the blaze.

Red Merchant Fleet

"While the merchant fleet in the United States continues to decline, the number of Soviet commercial vessels continues to rise."

The words are taken from a brief item in the New York Times. And they are substantiated by a recital of facts provided by authoritative sources.

The present Soviet merchant fleet consists of about 900 ships—almost as many as the 973 which operated under the U. S. flag at the beginning of this year. A year before we had 1,008 merchant vessels. Moreover, the Soviet Union is engaged in a massive program of merchant ship construction. The goal is a total of 4,500 vessels by 1980.

Still another set of figures indicates the gravity of our position. Last year we accounted for just under 30 percent of the world's waterborne cargo. But our commercial fleet carried less than 11 percent of our own exports and imports.

Going on, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Belieu has reported that, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, the Soviet merchant fleet increased 30 times as fast as our own.

So much for the facts and statistics. What is their significance? The Times cites something written by the editor of Marine Engineering-Log, a leading publication in its field. The gist of it is "that the Soviet build-up will provide her with a massive merchant fleet, adequate for a showdown either militarily or in a war of commerce."

Could there be more powerful arguments in favor of stimulated governmental efforts to vitalize the U. S.-flag merchant marines . . . or to encourage American shippers to use our ships whenever possible?

Opinions Of Other Editors Gold And Stability

In the quiet tones reserved for a really important matter which cannot be discussed with excitement, the adequacy of the international gold standard is now under review.

It grows increasingly clear that new arrangements need to be made. They should be, and can be, made simply. All countries except the United States are now substantially on a managed currency basis. The United States would join them.

This change will not cause any upset if handled carefully. There would be no devaluation of the dollar, no competitive devaluation between world currencies. There would merely be an end to the automatic convertibility of the dollar into metallic gold.

Speculation would be inhibited but not trade. Indeed the change would only recognize the actual situation which now underlies the technicality. If unforeseen events were to cause a serious run on the dollar, exports of gold would be suspended without delay. Everyone knows this even now.

Why is a change needed? There are two main reasons.

First, the physical supply of gold has not grown nearly as fast as the complex of world trade which rests upon it. A fixed amount of gold, plus a modest yearly increase from the mines, has to settle international balances on a volume of trade which is expanding at a phenomenal rate. It's not unlike a slow growing food supply and a rapidly expanding population.

Second, the automatic link between dollar and gold is forcing the United States to modify important domestic and foreign policies.

To oversimplify: low interest rates are desirable to quicken the American growth rate. But high interest rates are necessary to keep foreign speculative and investment money in the United States. If these funds were withdrawn, the gold outflow would become dangerously large again.

Similarly, the United States is still involved in foreign aid. It provides both military and economic support to build the strength of the free world. Yet this spending abroad puts pressure on the otherwise favorable United States balance of trade and on its gold.

There is no immediate crisis. The Treasury is doing brilliantly both in reducing the gold outflow toward the vanishing point, and in managing the relationship of the dollar to other currencies. Co-operation by world bankers is exemplary. So there is time to consider the long-range prospect with calm.

And in the long run, it seems increasingly clear that a stronger and more modern base is needed for international transactions. It isn't prudent to be continually exerting the utmost in expert management in order to make do with a steadily less adequate mechanism of exchange.

George Sokolsky

I like to see "Perry Mason" on Saturday nights. I have been late to dinner; I have had my dessert and tea watching "Perry Mason" which sharpens the mind despite the fact that he always wins. It used to be a good combination, "Perry Mason" first and then "The Defenders." Suddenly I am told that this show is to be shifted to another night. Did the television company hand a plebiscite on the subject? Did they ask the viewers what they liked? Not at all. This is a take it or leave it business.

The other night, I sat in the dismantled living room of my house in the Berkshires, listening to the remarkable performance of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Leonard Bernstein and a massed chorus trained by Hugh Ross. I was indeed grateful to the Columbia Broadcasting System for this special service. But I did not appreciate the commercials of the Corning Glass Company. They were an interruption. Without accompanying music, they might have been passable. The commercial music clashed. It was like putting a hurdy-gurdy in the orchestra pit of the Metropolitan.

I suppose the Philharmonic had to have this to get the television time and business is business. Newton Minow, head of the Federal Communications

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg—"Frustrated" perhaps best describes the status of Pennsylvania's bagful of statewide candidates at this point.

In a sense this is a somewhat unique position inasmuch as heretofore one party or the other knew pretty well which way the political winds were blowing at this stage.

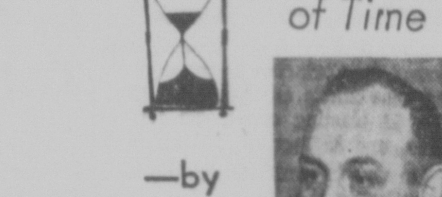

This quite definitely is not the case this year, notwithstanding the routine for-public-consumption-only tootlings of respective party mouthpieces, mimeograph artists, and the usual assortment of party hangers-on.

Or phrased another way: Pennsylvania's voters have the party slates and party chieftains over a barrel this year - and the old pros on both sides know it.

This "peculiar" status-and it is peculiar because it is not following the norm - is perhaps more exemplified here around Capitol Hill where, as you talk "off the record" to party toppers, there is indeed a solemn shaking of heads, an air of frustration, an attitude of: "we just don't know, confound it."

Ordinarily by this time there usually is some rather sound pulse feeling available; at least

Western Wedding Belles

DEAR ABBY: I attended a wedding on horseback, so "Horse Crazy" needn't feel that her dream of having such a wedding is out of line. At this particular wedding, for the "something old" the bride wore an old buckskin jacket. The "something new" was a big white felt cowboy hat. The "something borrowed" was a silver saddle, and the "something blue" was a pair of blue denims. Even the horse was dressed for the occasion!

DEAR ABBY: I was tickled to note in your column that a girl signed "Horse Crazy" inquired about the possibility of being married underwater. My boy friend and I belong to a skin-diving club and we think it would be fun to have an underwater wedding. Has it ever been done, I wonder? So far every one we have mentioned this to — except our skin-diving club — thinks we are crazy. But, Abby, you have no idea how pure and spiritual you feel underwater. After all, isn't water a very important part of the baptismal ceremony?

Veteran's Guide

Q—Is it true that veterans may now reinstate lapsed GI insurance by an act of Congress?

A—The measure is still being considered in Congress. The House has passed one version and the Senate another. No compromise version has been worked out by this date (September 5, 1962).

Q—In general, what will be the annual premium if a 40-year-old World War II veteran converts his 5-year term plan insurance to GI ordinary life?

A—In general, the premium will be in the neighborhood of $250 for a $10,000 GI ordinary life policy.

Q—I would like to know whether the veterans bonus after World War II was paid by the states or the Federal government.

A—Several states, not all, have paid bonuses to World War I veterans. There has been no bonus but a series of benefits Federal bonus paid to these veterans ranging from educational rights, home mortgage guarantees to monthly compensation and pension payments have been made to eligible World War I veterans by the Federal government.

U.S. Concerned

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, Oct. 1 — A Russian "mystery" ship is causing deep concern and even alarm among veteran U.S. Intelligence and military officials.

Enroute from the Black Sea, the Anganskides, a large Soviet cargo vessel, is preparing to dock this week near Banes, Cuba, under some of the tightest security precautions yet taken by Russian and Cuban military authorities.

The Anganskides is being escorted by two Soviet submarines on a course which has been anything but direct. Tracking U. S. Navy patrol planes report that the ship has taken a circular route through the South Atlantic in order to avoid the regular shipping lanes.

Since sailing from the Black Sea, the Anganskides has been in continuous communication with the Kremlin's own radio center. All messages to and from the ship have been transmitted in a secret code greatly different from any used by the Soviet in the past.

Also, the ship is the first of several hundred Russian vessels carrying arms and other supplies to Cuba that has been in direct communication with the Kremlin throughout its entire journey.

U.S. military intelligence officials following the reports on the Soviet "mystery" ship believe that the vessel contains the most important cargo Russia has shipped to Cuba since Castro came to power.

One group of these intelligence experts has warned the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the Anganskides could easily be carrying Soviet nuclear warheads or bombs for Russian missiles or MIG airplanes.

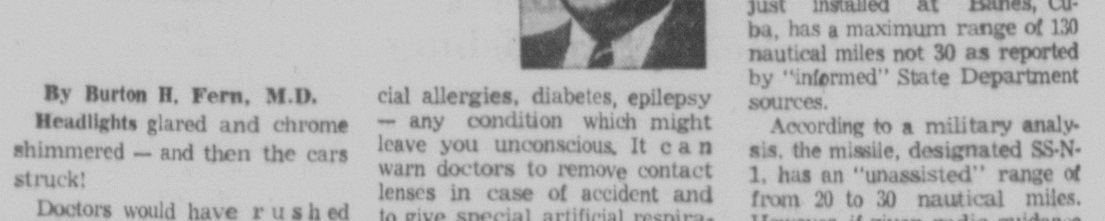

Another group of military experts believes that the ship, because of its direct communication link with the Kremlin's radio center, is carrying a number of high-ranking Soviet military and political officers to Cuba. These officials, if aboard the vessel, are expected to be the vanguard of the Kremlin's military command in the Western Hemisphere. Their headquarters will probably be on the Isle of Pines.

The military and intelligence experts, while not agreeing on the type of cargo, have urged the Joint Chiefs to recommend to President Kennedy that the Navy intercept and board the Anganskides to determine the nature of its mysterious cargo.

It is not known whether the JCS has acted on this recommendation. However, it is known that the Navy has received no orders from the White House to stop the vessel.

Inside You And Yours

Medic-Alert

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Headlights glared and chrome shimmered — and then the cars struck!

Doctors would have rushed Cindy into emergency surgery except for that bracelet on her wrist. It was engraved "Medic-Alert."

They telephoned Medic-Alert's special number in Turlock, California. It accepts collect calls from doctors all over the world. Within minutes they were pouring special plasma into Cindy's veins. She was a bleeder — a hemophilia victim. Without this plasma, she might have bled to death in the operating room.

During emergencies, little children and unconscious adults can't explain special problems. Perhaps you carry an identification card that warns of yours.

Valuable Possession

Medic-Alert is an "identification card" you can never forget. After paying a small fee to join, you receive a metal identification bracelet or dog tag.

Stamped in red are the words "Medic-Alert" with the medical symbol — a snake wound around a wooden staff — inbetween. Also engraved are your serial number and your special problem.

Medic-Alert can identify special allergies, diabetes, epilepsy — any condition which might leave you unconscious. It can warn doctors to remove contact lenses in case of accident and to give special artificial respiration to persons whose vocal cords have been cut out, disconnecting throat and nose from the air passage.

Quick Action

Bracelet and phone call can save vital time.

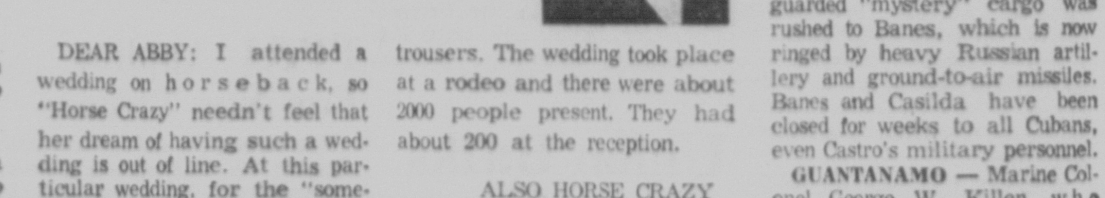

Do you suffer from some serious ailment that might go unrecognized if you were unconscious? Then ask your doctor about Medic-Alert — or write to Medic-Alert Foundation International (a non-profit organization), Turlock, California, for further information.

Meanwhile, spread the word, so that more and more people will recognize the Medic-Alert emblem in case of emergency. And if, while giving first aid, you discover a Medic-Alert emblem — alert your medic when he arrives!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Mrs. Payne Represents Club Today

Mrs. Robert Payne, President of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs will attend the first Middle Atlantic Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs which will be held today at the Savoy-Hilton Hotel, New York City, according to an announcement by Mrs. H. Everett Sanford, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs.

Five program workshops featuring chairmen of departments and divisions of the General Federation and outstanding club projects will be held in the morning, with a speech by the General Federation president, Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, of Concord, New Hampshire, in the afternoon.

State federations participating in addition to Pennsylvania are New York, New Jersey, Delaware and the District of Columbia, according to Mrs. William J. Storey, Dover, Delaware, chairman of the conference.

Registration will be held at 10 a.m. after which workshops will be held simultaneously on education, fine arts, home life, international affairs and public affairs. The Pennsylvania Federation will be in charge of the international affairs group with Mrs. Sanford presiding.

Mrs. Frances Burke Redick, former Secretary of State of Connecticut and chairman of United Nations and Specialized Agencies for the General Federation, will be a participant in the Pennsylvania workshop. Mrs. Carl E. Bair of the Charter Oak Community Club, Allegheny County, will describe her club's international affairs program.

General Federation board members from Pennsylvania who will participate in the conference in addition to Mrs. Sanford are Mrs. Earle A. Brown, Pittsburgh, secretary; Mrs. Russell Clements, Wallingford, chairman of health division; Mrs. Ronald M. Hay, Grove City, chairman of revisions, and Mrs. Richard S. Neville, Broomall, Pennsylvania Junior Director.

Pancake Day Planned By Demo. Women

A "Sausage and Pancake Day" will be held Sunday, Oct. 7 at Be-secker's Golf, Canadensis, sponsored by the Barrett Democratic Women's Club.

Final plans for the event were made at the first Fall meeting Friday at the Barrett Branch YMCA. Mrs. Wayne A. Price, president, announced that the meal will be served between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Children under five will be served free.

In other business, Mrs. Beulah Selin reported on the "Operation Support" workshop held in Easton Sept. 6. She and Mrs. Octavia Price were delegates from the local club.

Plans were made for a card party to be held in October, final arrangements to be announced later.

Mrs. Wayne A. Price and other members will attend a radio broadcast Oct. 11 in Easton at which Genevieve Blatt, candidate for office of Internal Affairs, will preside.

Carl Niehoff, candidate for state senate, will be guest speaker at the Oct. 19 meeting in the Barrett Branch YMCA. Members of the Barrett Democratic Men's Club have been invited to join the women's organization for the meeting which is also open to the public.

Hostesses for the next meeting are Mrs. William Brush, Mrs. Aubrey Siglin and Mrs. Frank Grab.

Family Dinner Celebrates Anniversary

Mt. Pocono — Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, of Knob Road, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary, Saturday, Sept. 15. They had a family dinner at Murry's Forest Lodge, together with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stiff and daughter Lori Ann, son, Billy Wright and Thomas Coon of Merriek, Long Island.

The Wrights received many gifts and messages of good wishes. A floral offering was placed on the altar of the Methodist Church, by their children and grandchildren, Sunday morning.

Mr. Wright and the former Anna Kuska, were married in the Christ Memorial Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, Maryland.

Mr. Wright is employed at the Tobyhanna Army Depot.

VFW Auxiliary Hears Report

Helene Shiffer, president of the Thomas P. Lambert Post 250 Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliary, welcomed Joyce Houser, new president of the 28th Division to the meeting Monday night.

Margaret Goldy gave a report of the district meeting held at Nazareth.

Mrs. Frances Burke Redick, former Secretary of State of Connecticut and chairman of United Nations and Specialized Agencies for the General Federation, will be a participant in the Pennsylvania workshop. Mrs. Carl E. Bair of the Charter Oak Community Club, Allegheny County, will describe her club's international affairs program.

The 1963 Fords Are Here At Haynes Motors In Stroudsburg

TWICE A YEAR MAINTENANCE... 36,000 miles between major lubrications... 6,000 miles between oil and filter change... New, larger, "Life Batteries"... 36,000 mile long life coolant... self adjusting brakes... only the cars from FORD offer this modern convenience. You can see America's most lively care-free cars today at Haynes Motors, N. Ninth St. at Scott St., Stroudsburg.

Stop In Today, Select A Ford For Your Future

TWO completely new hardtops and three new station wagons feature Ford's pace-setting middle-weight line of Fairlane cars for 1963.

The two new hardtop models capture the Thunderbird spirit with a low profile, sleek thin roofline, rakish windshield angle and smartly styled over-all appearance. Newly-designed bucket seats, a full-length console and luxury car appointments combine to express a sporty feeling of fun on wheels.

The new Fairlane wagon line of three models includes the Fairlane Squire with simulated exterior wood paneling. Bucket seats will be available for the Squire Wagon as well as for the Sports Coupe.

Frank Weller, Sales Manager Haynes Motors, said, "In addition to new hardtops and station wagons for 1963, the Fairlane line features restyled 2 and 4-door sedans.

A complete range of economy and performance is offered by 21 different combinations of engines, transmissions and rear ends. The 6-cylinder 170-cubic-inch engine is available with standard or automatic transmission, the 221-inch V-8 is available with a 3 or 4 speed fully synchronized or 2-speed automatic transmission and the 26-inch V-8 can also be obtained with a 3-speed automatic transmission. Four separate differential ratios are available on all engines. Overdrive is also available with either V-8.

Fairlane interiors are in line keeping with over-all smoothness and express a youthful appeal. Color-keyed combinations of upholstery and floor fabrics are found in all nine Fairlane models.

Thirteen exterior colors are matched with corresponding interior selections in the 1963 Fairlane.

Maintenance By making engineering refinements including hydraulic tappets, by developing an improved oil filtration and coupling these refinements with a different grade oil at the time of initial factory fill, the customary 1,000-mile inspection has been completely eliminated on all 1963 Fairlanes. This unique development offers the customer a vehicle that requires normal maintenance only twice a year or every 6,000 miles.

In addition to this minimum service requirement, other Fairlane maintenance features include the 36,000-mile major lubrication interval and fuel filter cartridge, along with extended-life brake linings that are self-adjusting.

Other features contributing to reduced maintenance are: Automatic valve lash on the 170-cubic-inch engine as well as on the V-8's — Factory-installed radiator coolant with a 2-year change interval for 35 degrees below zero protection — Special underbody protection from rust and corrosion — Diamond lustre paint that requires no waxing and retains its brilliance with simple washing and occasional cleaning.

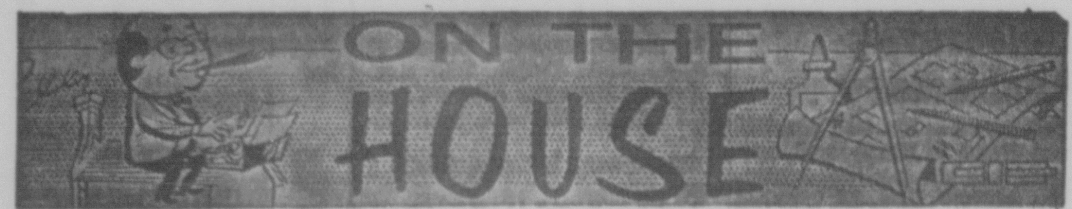

Dependability, stamina and success are three ways in describing the unique light-weight 221 and 260-cubic-inch Fairlane V-8 engines. The new "thin wall" cast iron V-8, introduced in the Fairlane last year, has proven to be an outstanding success, not only with Ford's Fairlane but in international competition vehicles as well. Installations in racing cars and other special competition vehicles have pointed up the quality and precision of this engine for use beyond that intended for passenger automobiles.

Riding Characteristics Fairlane design and engineering achievements have produced a light-weight vehicle with the performance characteristics, comfort, and passenger conveniences normally found in a much larger and heavier car.

Options and Accessories A complete line of accessories, ranging from power steering, power brakes and fully transistorized radios, to a new economy air conditioner are offered on the Fairlane and Fairlane 500 series. Luggage racks, lockable storage compartments and rear-facing third seats are available on all three station wagon models.

Added Customer Convenience Items Fairlane for 1963 will offer many customer conveniences such as: All vinyl upholstery in station wagons for easy cleaning and superior wearing qualities — Extended-life brake linings on all models with extra large brakes on station wagons — Out-of-the-way spare tire storage location — Balanced tailgate for finger-tip operation — Parallel-action electric windshield wipers for 760-square-inch sweep without a center "blind spot" — Special weather protected safety door locks that reduce the chance of opening on impact.

THE DECISION to finish an attic, basement or any extra room in a house always brings with it a second decision — the kind of wall material that should be used.

If it's to be a do-it-yourself project, the selection is made from among the various types of wood paneling, plywood, hardboard, plastic and the seemingly endless variety of other dry wall products. Professional help is required for a lath-and-plaster job.

Price and personal preference are the two most important factors affecting the selection of the wall material. One of the least expensive is gypsum board, a plaster-like substance covered with specially treated paper.

The more common varieties must be painted or papered after the joints have been filled with tape and cement. These chores can be eliminated by purchasing finished gypsum board with decorative joints that do not require treatment, but this type necessarily costs more.

Regular wood paneling continues to be popular, despite the inroads made by some of the newer materials. Many persons feel that nothing exudes warmth like wood panels, but even this group is divided in its loyalty. Some can't see anything except mahogany, walnut or one of the hardwoods. Others feel that the softwoods, such as pine, make the ideal paneling.

Hardboard gets the nod from those looking for a smooth — surfaced wall that resists dents and other bruises. For those who want a plastic finish, but do not wish to tackle the job of bonding laminates to wood, there is a type of hardboard to which the plastic already is attached.

Fiber or insulating board is economical and can be purchased plain or with various kinds of decorative finishes. Where a waterproof, fireproof material is desired, asbestos cement board is excellent.

A newcomer in the dry wall field is a vinyl-covered plank which can be applied right over an existing wall. It is made of hardwood veneers laminated to a core of polystyrene foam. There is a thin coat of vinyl plastic over the veneer.

The lath-and-plaster industry feels it has a product competitive with dry wall material—a plaster veneer. It says that a wall or ceiling job can be done in one day and painted the next.

Interestingly, while the industry's national association says the plaster veneer is "superior to all other so-called quick interior finishes," it very carefully adds: "where quality is demanded, there is no substitute for genuine lath and plaster."

EASY GOLD HERE'S an easy way to get gold highlights on the carved portions when you refinish furniture. Instead of first enameling the article and then trying to spot the carvings with gold, apply the gold enamel or lacquer first, the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests. After it has dried, paint or enamel the entire piece in the color of your choice. Before this coat has dried completely, rub it off the portions where you want the gold to show.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: We have a large stereo console, made of what looks like mahogany wood, although it probably isn't. No matter how many times we wax it, the finish remains dull. Can you tell us how to restore the glossy finish?

ANSWER: This could be due to a number of things. It may be that there just isn't any glossy finish on the wood to restore. In that case, the wax will not automatically bring back the former high gloss, which probably was varnish or lacquer. Another possibility is that you have been applying wax periodically for a long time without ever removing any of the old coats of wax.

Your best bet is to remove all the wax on the wood. Sometimes this can be done with turpentine, but more often it requires the use of a commercial wax remover.

When all the wax has been removed, apply a single coat of new wax and see whether you can buff it to a gloss. If not, the wood needs a new varnish or lacquer finish.

If you plan on a refinishing job, be sure to remove that new coat of wax you put on. After that, you'll have to decide whether to get right down to the bare wood and then refinish or apply a new coat on the old. In most cases, you'll get a better result by removing all the old finish and starting anew.

QUESTION: We have heard that white roofs can reduce inside temperatures considerably. Is this true? And if so, can we

Administrative Conference Begins At ESSC Today

THE Administrative Personnel of the Pennsylvania State Colleges will hold their annual Administrative Conference on the campus of East Stroudsburg State College in East Stroudsburg on Monday and Tuesday, October 1 and 2.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, President, will welcome the group and extend the hospitality of East Stroudsburg State College. Following Dr. Koehler's welcome, group meetings will take place according to fields of specialization represented.

Acting as East Stroudsburg State College hosts for the fields of administrative specializations are Dr. Francis McGary, Dean of Instruction; Dr. Theodore Moore, Dean of Admissions; Dr. John Wildrick, Director of Student Teaching; Dr. John Appel, Director of Liberal Arts Program; Dr. Frank Sills, Director of Graduate Studies; and Lester Bowers, Director of Campus Laboratory Schools.

The purpose of the meeting is to coordinate the efforts of the fourteen state colleges in raising standards and to cooperate in studies concerning the greatly enlarged collegiate program necessitated by the increased enrollments and public demands.

Child Adoption Fees Discussed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Persons concerned directly with child adoption practices gave conflicting views Friday on what changes should be made in Pennsylvania's adoption laws.

President Judge Hugh C. Boyle of Allegheny County Orphans Court said he is opposed to the charging of fees by adoption agencies. He said it is "wrong in principle and should not be encouraged or allowed."

Miss Martha W. Hutchinson, director of the Fayette County Child Welfare Agency, said fees should be charged on a sliding scale. She also said the function of placing children for adoption should be restricted to agencies. The jurist and Miss Hutchinson were among 75 doctors, lawyers, social workers and clergymen who submitted their recommendation in writing to a committee of the State Public Welfare Department. The committee will study the recommendations, along with those made at five similar hearings elsewhere in the state, and draw up recommended adoption law changes for submission to the 1963 State Legislature.

James Keiper Is Enr At Girard

JAMES David Keiper, young son of Mrs. Wilberta Keiper Lee, of Main Street Delaware Water Gap, recently was admitted as a student to Girard College in Philadelphia.

This lad was among the sixty-five admitted to the well known boarding school for fatherless boys. The school was founded in 1848 and according to the Will of Stephen Girard, the famous mariner, merchant, banker and philanthropist founder, boys can be admitted when they are between the ages of six and ten years.

Operating entirely on its endowment, the College assumes all costs of a boy's care during his life at Girard College, with the exception of his vacations at home. A total of four months in each year can be spent as vacation periods at home.

Attorney Moves For New Trial

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Attorney Joseph G. Gale Friday filed motions for arrest of judgment and a new trial on behalf of William Lewis, West Nantuxie, AWOL Marine convicted of manslaughter in the death of Jean Volounis, 14, Plymouth.

The motion for arrest of judgment contends:

"The evidence was insufficient to sustain the verdict of the jury" and "the defendant was convicted of an offense of which he could not be convicted under all of the evidence presented in this case and the applicable rules of criminal law and procedure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Gale said the verdict was against the law, the evidence and the weight of evidence. He said the trial court erred in overruling defendant's demurrer to the evidence at close of the Commonwealth's case.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Monday, October 1, 1962

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Good planetary influences encourage your earnest efforts. Start early and plan a substantial program. Fulfill obligations and commitments; review plans. Look for first-rate results. Do not take on more than is reasonable, however, nor waste time with non-essentials while big things wait.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Venus profitably placed. Display that first-of-the-week verve and ambition for first-rate results. Do not take on more than is reasonable, however, nor waste time with non-essentials while big things wait.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mixed planetary influences. Orient self carefully. Good period for gathering knowledge and imparting it in the right places. Act vigorously but without aggression.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You aspire to position of leadership and inspire others with respect for their own and your abilities. Here is brand-new chance to put over a project or just a "small" task in tip-top fashion.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Excellent literary vibrations prevalent; an encouraging period. Cultivate your confidence, concentration, and be patient. For those results that will come easier if you remain unperturbed.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Your Venus encourages optimism, so reflect this in your attitude. Transcend minor and petty annoyances. Gains possible through diligent application, resolve plan.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Under good planetary influences you are expected to maintain a stalwart position of responsibility. Do not become lost in a maze of nonessentials. Snipe up.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Jupiter's brightly favorable aspect radiates new chances, receiving of delayed benefits, fastening some of those loose ends. You can use a trick or two here — all in due order.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Partnerships, business, personal life all generously influenced. You, who take responsibility seriously, have fine opportunities. Be realistic in all things.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — There is a tendency toward unconventionality. Do not join those who are indiscreet. In fact, you will be expected to show the way for sensible thinking and acting.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Be alert now. Scrutinize all projects before acting. Rule out doubt, fear of failure. You have the know-how.

YOU BORN TODAY hold the key to much success, if you will open your purse of talents and count them out freely, while noting their import and proper distribution. Justice, equity, affection thrive here. You love your hereditary performing arts, family, friends, and a good time. Watch the latter, it could get out of hand. Count on one who works for a harmony you so desire. You are not dismayed by truly big jobs; responsibility rests well on your strong shoulders.

Knights Win Over Catty

CATASAUQUA — Coach Elwood Petchel's Pen Argyl combine Saturday night rolled to its second win of the season, scoring a 28-7 win over the Rough Riders of Catasauqua here.

The Catty combine scored first for a 7-0 lead early in the first period following an exchange of punts.

West Enders Trim Lakers Behind Hill

WEST END—Righthander Brian Hill, under scrutiny by the New York Mets, homered and hurled the West Enders to a 4-1 victory over the Saylorburg Lakers yesterday in the first game of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League championships here.

The defending champion West End club, first-place finishers in regular season play, could win the title once more next Sunday with another win over the Lakers in the best 2-of-3 playoff finals.

Elmer Valo, New York Mets scout, was on hand for the second straight week to see the 22-year-old Moravian College graduate under action. He certainly must have been impressed.

This was Hill's 13th consecutive victory this year—10 during the regular season, two in the semifinals against Bowmanstown, and one in the championship tilt yesterday. He has yet to be beaten this year by a PMBL representative.

In the 13 games he has hurled so far, Hill has allowed eight runs against him (five of them earned).

He put the West Enders out in front yesterday with a solo circuit smash over the left field fence some 345 feet away while hanging up a string of zeros against the Lakers during the first eight innings.

Clinches In Eighth

The score remained 1-0 until the eighth when West End had over three runs for the clincher. Two singles followed by a double by Danny Lakatos tallied two markers and Bob Schaller's sacrifice fly put across the third run of the frame.

Saylorburg scored their only run in the top of the ninth on Butch Kresge's single, an error and another single by Lloyd Brown which scored Kresge from third.

It was strictly a line pitcher's duel between Hill and the Lakers' Bob Bomer over the first seven innings before the Lakers wrapped it up in the eighth.

Next Sunday's second game of the championship playoffs will be played at the Saylorburg field starting at 2 p.m.

Ohio State Shows Awesome Power To Match Alabama

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State used everyone but the cheer leaders and everything but punt formation in an awesome display of power that matched Alabama's similar show in the first half weekend of college football action.

Three other top ten teams stubbed their toes, while the Pacific Coast, oft-tormented by the boys from the other side of the Rockies in recent years, rose in wrath on almost all fronts.

Woody Hayes' Buckeyes poured 62 players into the fray, and were never forced to kick, as they rolled 47-0 over North Carolina in the season opener, before a record home crowd of 84,009—the 24th consecutive Columbus crowd over 80,000.

Stomps Tulane

Alabama stomped Tulane 77-0 Friday night for its second straight and 20th without a loss, with quarterback Joe Namath sparking the rout. The Tulane touchdown was the first one against Alabama in eight games. The Crimson Tide, defending college champion, carried the No. 1 ranking, and the Buckeyes No. 2, into action. Texas, No. 3, opened defense of its Southwest Conference crown with a 34-0 rout of Texas Tech, and Penn State (No. 4) shoved over two second half scores to take Air Force 20-6.

LSU, No. 5, stumbled to a 6-6 tie against Rice, while Stanford stopped Michigan State, No. 6, 16-13.

Mississippi Wins

Mississippi, No. 7, took Kentucky 14-0, Georgia Tech, No. 8, defeated Florida 18-0, Southern California, No. 9, smacked SMU 33-3 and Missouri, No. 10, held off Minnesota with three goal line stands for a scoreless tie.

The Stanford upset of Michigan State—the first State loss to a Far West club since 1949—and the Trojan triumph were the highlights of a good West Coast weekend. Washington added a 28-7 victory over Illinois, Washington State downed Wyoming 21-15 and Oregon trampled Utah 35-8.

Iowa played the only sour note for the Coasters, when whipping Oregon State 28-8.

UCLA took the week off to prepare for Ohio State, and it might be a good idea. The Buckeyes utilized quarterback rollouts and fullback plunges almost exclusively against North Carolina, and still rolled up 314 yards on the ground with quarterback John Mumme getting 110. Mumme threw only one pass, a 42-yard touchdown pitch.

Lehigh Trimmed

In the East, Princeton snapped Rutgers' 12-game winning streak 15-7 while Harvard trimmed Lehigh 27-14 and Yale took Connecticut 18-14 to extend a record stretching back to 1875 of never losing to a state rival.

Navy rallied to edge William and Mary 20-16 and Army sputtered to a 9-3 victory over punchless Syracuse. It was the second straight week the Orangemen had failed to score a touchdown. Penn defeated Lafayette 13-11, Boston College beat Villanova 28-13, and Kansas whipped Boston University 14-0.

In the South, Duke beat South Carolina 21-8, Clemson edged North Carolina State 7-0 and Auburn upset Tennessee 22-21. Miami edged TCU 21-20 with George Mira passing for two touchdowns and scoring one, Georgia blanked Vanderbilt 10-0 and Florida State exploded the Furman bubble 42-0.

In the Midwest, Wisconsin slugged New Mexico State 69-13, Indiana beat Cincinnati 26-6 and Nebraska surprised Michigan 25-13. Notre Dame mounted two marches with the kickoffs opening the game and the second half for touchdowns and staged a routing line stand to take Oklahoma 13-7 in the nationally televised game. Colorado beat Kansas State 6-0.

In the Southwest, Pittsburgh beat Baylor 24-14, Arkansas stomped Tulsa 42-14 and Hardin Simmons lost its 25th straight game, 13-6 to Wichita.

Cowboys Beat Rams, 27-17

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, given a brilliant ride by jockey-sized quarterback Eddie LeBaron, beat the Los Angeles Rams 27-17 in a National Football League game Sunday.

It was Dallas' first win of the 1962 season—a mark the hapless Rams have yet to attain.

LeBaron's passing, deft handling and brainy quarterbacking figured in all of the Cowboys' scoring. He even held the ball when Sam Baker kicked field goals of 34 and 48 yards.

Penn State won but found out you can't just throw your helmets on the field and expect the opposition to lie down; Villanova found the football 10 yards too long; West Chester's 16-game State College Conference winning streak is history; Penn edged Lafayette but isn't bragging; Susquehanna increased its unbeaten string to 15 . . .

So went the second weekend of Pennsylvania collegiate football.

A 21-point favorite, Penn State led the field at halftime leading Air Force Academy by a single point, 7-6. The fourth ranked Nittany Lions came alive in the second half, however, winning 20-6 as quarterback Pete Liske fired a pair of touchdown passes to halfback Roger Kochman.

TD Passes

Villanova pushed Boston College all over the field—between the 10-yard stripes—but lost 28-13 as a rangy quarterback by the name of Jack Concannon tossed TD passes of 78 and 52 yards and scored once himself, losing the first after two victories, Villanova failed to score on four drives inside B.C.'s 10.

East Stroudsburg ended West Chester's domination of State College Conference teams with a 7-6 squeaker over the Rams in a heavy rain. Ironically, the last time West Chester lost a conference game it was East Stroudsburg that turned the trick, that in a game, 14-13 in 1954. Jan Beliveau's 39-yard TD run in the fourth period and Jerry Wasilchuk's conversion did the trick Friday night at East Stroudsburg.

Susquehanna not only increased its winning streak to 15—longest in the East—but remained unscored on in winning its second of the season, 28-0 over Ursinus. The Crusaders led 6-0 at halftime, but scored three TDs in less than 15 minutes to salt away the game.

Penn struck for two touchdowns within 50 seconds in the third period to edge Lafayette 13-11. Observers, however, see little hope for the Quakers in Ivy league competition.

Jim Traficant and Fred Mazter to a 9-3 victory over punchless Syracuse. It was the second straight week the Orangemen had failed to score a touchdown. Penn defeated Lafayette 13-11, Boston College beat Villanova 28-13, and Kansas whipped Boston University 14-0.

Notre Dame mounted two marches with the kickoffs opening the game and the second half for touchdowns and staged a routing line stand to take Oklahoma 13-7 in the nationally televised game. Colorado beat Kansas State 6-0.

In the Southwest, Pittsburgh beat Baylor 24-14, Arkansas stomped Tulsa 42-14 and Hardin Simmons lost its 25th straight game, 13-6 to Wichita.

Cowboys Beat Rams, 27-17

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, given a brilliant ride by jockey-sized quarterback Eddie LeBaron, beat the Los Angeles Rams 27-17 in a National Football League game Sunday.

It was Dallas' first win of the 1962 season—a mark the hapless Rams have yet to attain.

LeBaron's passing, deft handling and brainy quarterbacking figured in all of the Cowboys' scoring. He even held the ball when Sam Baker kicked field goals of 34 and 48 yards.

Penn State won but found out you can't just throw your helmets on the field and expect the opposition to lie down; Villanova found the football 10 yards too long; West Chester's 16-game State College Conference winning streak is history; Penn edged Lafayette but isn't bragging; Susquehanna increased its unbeaten string to 15 . . .

So went the second weekend of Pennsylvania collegiate football.

A 21-point favorite, Penn State led the field at halftime leading Air Force Academy by a single point, 7-6. The fourth ranked Nittany Lions came alive in the second half, however, winning 20-6 as quarterback Pete Liske fired a pair of touchdown passes to halfback Roger Kochman.

TD Passes

Villanova pushed Boston College all over the field—between the 10-yard stripes—but lost 28-13 as a rangy quarterback by the name of Jack Concannon tossed TD passes of 78 and 52 yards and scored once himself, losing the first after two victories, Villanova failed to score on four drives inside B.C.'s 10.

East Stroudsburg ended West Chester's domination of State College Conference teams with a 7-6 squeaker over the Rams in a heavy rain. Ironically, the last time West Chester lost a conference game it was East Stroudsburg that turned the trick, that in a game, 14-13 in 1954. Jan Beliveau's 39-yard TD run in the fourth period and Jerry Wasilchuk's conversion did the trick Friday night at East Stroudsburg.

Susquehanna not only increased its winning streak to 15—longest in the East—but remained unscored on in winning its second of the season, 28-0 over Ursinus. The Crusaders led 6-0 at halftime, but scored three TDs in less than 15 minutes to salt away the game.

Penn struck for two touchdowns within 50 seconds in the third period to edge Lafayette 13-11. Observers, however, see little hope for the Quakers in Ivy league competition.

Dodgers, Giants In NL Playoff

The Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants finished the National League season Sunday in a tie for first place, forcing a rare playoff to determine the team which will face the New York Yankees in baseball's World Series.

The Dodgers lost to St. Louis 1-0 and the San Francisco Giants beat Houston 2-1 in the final regularly scheduled games of the season, pulling the Giants into a tie. Each team has a record of 101 victories and 61 losses.

A three-game playoff begins in San Francisco Monday, with the first team winning two games becoming the champion. The second game, and the third if necessary, will be played in Los Angeles.

Fourth NL Playoff

The playoffs is the fourth in National League history, stretching back to 1876. Oddly, the Dodgers have been involved in all of them. There has been one playoff in the American League.

The playoff winner goes against the Yankees in the World Series, beginning Thursday in the home park of the National League champion.

A home run by San Francisco's Willie Mays was the deciding blow in the Giants' victory over Houston, while a home run by Gene Oliver was the only run in the Los Angeles-St. Louis game.

Strangely, each of the contenders had lost more games than they had won in the final weeks of the season. The Dodgers, who had led the league since July 8, won only three of their last 13 games. San Francisco won only seven of its last 17.

The Dodgers probably will start lefthander Sandy Koufax (14-6) against southpaw Billy Pierce (15-6) in the first game of the playoffs.

Koufax has made only several brief appearances since he was disabled in mid-July by a circulatory disorder in the forefinger of his pitching hand.

Arizin To Play With Camden

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Paul Arizin, a 10-year veteran with the Philadelphia Warriors and two-time scoring champion of the National Basketball Association, will play the 1962-63 season with the Camden Bullets of the Eastern Basketball League.

In announcing the contract signing Saturday Tommy Roberts, Bullets general manager, said Arizin turned down "a fantastic offer" from Eddie Gottlieb, general manager of the NBA's San Francisco team. The Warriors moved to San Francisco after last season.

During his NBA career, Arizin scored 16,266 points for an average of 22.8 a game. His total is second only to Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, who has played in the NBA 13 years.

Cavaliers Romp To 40-0 Win Over Bangor For New Record

BANGOR—East Stroudsburg punched out a score of points in the first quarter and then doubled this output during the next three for a big 40-0 victory over Bangor High on the latter's gridiron Saturday night.

It was the widest margin ever fashioned by the Cavaliers in this 18-year-old series and helped to dispel somewhat a long standing bugaboo since the Kist-coached forces found previous going tough on the Bangor field, only once before winning there.

This time it was not a case of who but how many, however. Eastburg was up 7-0 after one minute of action and crossed again the next two times they were in possession before the shattered Slaters finally regrouped and began to put up a fight.

The runaway was triggered by a 69-yard return of the opening kickoff. John Mosher took Frankie Holland's boot on the 20, handed off to Jim Steele and Steele raced down to Bangor's 11 before he was overhauled by Dick Pozzuto. This merely postponed the inevitable since Jack Van Horn plunged through from little over a yard out on third down and Mike Ajygin place-kicked the first of four conversions.

Bangor came back with a modest offensive flurry, striking the Cavaliers 43 and then punting apparently safely out of bounds on the 12, but Steele, after a one-yard pickup by Mosher, returned to the scoring picture with an 87-yard gallop up the middle. Ajygin added the icing again.

Situation Worsens

Earl Palmer's next kickoff left the Slaters deep and a bad third down snapback on a punt formation worsened the situation. Pozzuto being downed on the two. While he got the next effort out to the 24, a personal foul penalty returned Eastburg to the 11. Van Horn passed over center to Palmer on the one and then tallied off tackle. The count remained 20-0 when Ajygin missed.

This stood throughout the second. A recovered fumble and an intercepted forward turned aside Eastburg penetrations while Bangor failed to capitalize on its major opportunity. Glenn Grigg's recovery of Steele's bobble on a free catch. The Slaters followed the retrieve on the 33 with a Jim Dietz-Carm Commale forward to the 13 only to bump against a penalty setback and another loss on an aerial try that ran out the half.

A blocked punt by Dick Deltier with the third period only two minutes old set up another touchdown. This gave the Cavaliers the ball on the 4. Steele drove through and Ajygin booted successfully.

Mosher Scores

Late in the same frame the victors launched a march from their own 23. An 18-yard over-head advance, Van Horn to Pete Masser, with some sizeable gallops by Steele and Mosher thrown in devoured the distance in just nine plays. Mosher skirting end for the final five. Ajygin

By now the fourth quarter was in progress and Bangor's only hope, by air, was cut off again on Mike Persetti's interception of a Dietz chuck on Bangor's 36. East Stroudsburg quickly racked up three first downs, one via a 15-yard personal foul fine, and reached the four for an easy converting roll-out by Don Hillyard. Ajygin's kick was wide.

That was the end of the scoring as well as of any action of note. When the game closed the visitors were in the midst of a sweep that had rolled from their own 28 to Bangor's 36.

IRS 'Countdown' Knocked Askew

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service worked nearly six weeks shaping "Operation Countdown"—the unprecedented multimillion-dollar seizure for tax purposes of receipts from the Liston-Patterson heavyweight title fight.

Despite the careful planning, the painstaking timetable for the nationwide campaign was thrown askew by the speed with which Sonny Liston parted Floyd Patterson from the championship: 2 minutes and 6 seconds of the first round.

Gambles Under Stars

IRS wanted to execute each legal step in proper sequence, to minimize the chance of a court challenge. So it gambled on a long battle under the stars at Chicago's Comiskey Park.

Revenue officers were instructed to wait until 10:30 p.m., Chicago time, to notify 260 theaters from coast to coast that they must turn over to the government all boxoffice receipts earmarked for the fight. The theaters, were those showing a closed-circuit television broadcast of the bout.

Determined to carry out orders, the revenue boys did some fancy stalling to keep theater managers in their offices for 47 minutes after the fight ended.

Achieve Objective

Although reports from field offices are not yet complete, IRS officials said Sunday they believe they achieved their objective: the seizure of up to $5 million of proceeds, in order to force a quick settlement of taxes owed by the promoters.

To accomplish this, hundreds of agents stayed on the job long past quitting time to serve levies at theater and corporate offices in 216 cities in 47 states and the District of Columbia.

"Operation Countdown," the informal label used by IRS officials, began about six weeks before last Tuesday's fight—and all because of newspaper articles.

In every IRS office, someone is designated to read the local newspapers with great care—to turn up articles or advertisements which indicate that a lot of money has changed hands, or soon will change hands. The newspapers, in effect, are the IRS tip sheets.

Eagles Down Browns For First Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles scored their first National Football League victory of the season Sunday, beating the Cleveland Browns 35-7 on the passing of quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and a fired up offense that throttled the Browns' vaunted running game.

Jurgensen's passes accounted for two touchdowns and a 31-yarder to halfback Tommy McDonald and 13 yards to Dick Lucas in the fourth. But it was the defense that stood out.

In the first period with the score tied 7-7 Cleveland gained 3 after a fourth down had pass from center prevented the Eagles from punting. The Browns, however, could gain only two yards on three running plays and a pass and the Eagles took over.

From this point Cleveland was never in the game as Jurgensen scored on a quarterback sneak from the 1 to give the Eagles a 14-7 halftime lead. Clarence Peaks banged over from the 1 making it 21-7 after three quarters and in the fourth Jurgensen hit Lucas for a 15-yard TD whereupon Teron Sapp plunged over from the 1. Bobby Walston booted five conversions.

The Browns' pair of dreadnoughts, Jimmy Brown and Tom Wilson, were slowed to a crawl. Brown gained only 12 yards on 31 carries while Wilson netted 9 on 33.

Jurgensen directed an 8 play 81-yard drive for the first touchdown climaxing it with a 31-yarder to McDonald.

The Browns retaliated moments later on a 41-yard kickoff return plus a 15-yard penalty, giving them a first down at the Philadelphia 36. Seven running plays later Brown slipped over from the five and Lou Groza, who later missed a pair of field goals, converted.

Cleveland 7 0 0 0—7
Philadelphia 7 7 14—35

CAN AMERICA KEEP THE CUP?

Our country has leadership in many fields . . . in science and invention, in business and trade, in cultural and living standards. But can we hold this lead?

Not unless we pay attention to the dilemma of higher education. The cost of leadership has gone up and colleges are in a squeeze. Many face shortages. To give us the leaders our country needs, they need modern classrooms, up-to-date science facilities and, over and above all, a steady supply of competent teachers and professors.

Political Tempest Brews In Southeastern Asia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A political tempest is brewing in Southeast Asia but the chances are it will stay in the teapot.

The Philippines generated it by laying claim to North Borneo, a tropical British colony of 29,388 square miles and about 500,000 population.

Great Britain has politely, but firmly, told the Philippines there is no foundation for the claim. It has declined to negotiate the issue because it says there is nothing to negotiate on the territory it has held for nearly 10 years.

The British have other plans for North Borneo. They intend to see the colony become part of a new confederation, Malaysia, to be formed next year. Malaysia would include Malaysia, Singapore, Sarawak, Brunei and North Borneo.

The Philippines stand little chance of getting anywhere with the British on their claim and President Diosdado Macapagal's government apparently knows it. But they stand even less chance getting anywhere with Tunku Abdul Rahman, the prime minister of Malaysia and architect of the Malaysia plan. He will not be drawn into the dispute.

He said the Philippines' claim to North Borneo is a matter between it and the British government.

Doctor Jailed For Hit-And-Run

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A Harveys Lake physician was sentenced Friday by Judge Jacob Schiffman to pay a fine of $200 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of 11 to 22 months in connection with a jury verdict of guilty of hit-and-run driving in the death of a Beaumont woman.

ment. At the same time he has made it clear he expects North Borneo to be one of the partners in the new Malaysia by its own choice.

The Philippines has received nothing but criticism from the prospective members of Malaysia. The bitterest critics have been in North Borneo itself.

How far will the Philippines, a strongly anti-Communist country, go in pressing its claim—the United Nations, the World Court, war?

"It all depends on how far the Philippines wants to go in losing friends and alienating people," one neutral diplomat says. "The Tunku is a determined man when it comes to Malaysia. The Philippines underestimates him if it does not realize this. Malaysia could be a strong buffer against Communist encroachment in Southeast Asia. The Tunku is going to see his aims upset."

Optimists Will Meet Tomorrow

THE regular weekly meeting of the Optimist Club of the Stroudsburgs will be held on Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The first meeting of each month is an evening meeting while the other weekly meetings are a noon luncheon.

The club held its quarterly ladies night last Thursday at Heddy's with forty five in attendance. Door prizes were awarded and dancing enjoyed as part of the program.

Members and guests of the Club will view a film graphically depicting how natural gas is brought to Penna. and New York metropolitan markets in the Tuesday evening meeting.

Produced by Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. the twenty five minute sound-color film, follows explorers in their search for natural gas deposits in Texas and Louisiana and shows how gas is extracted from subterranean pockets.

Scenes depict the manufacture and testing of heavy pipe; the intricate process of bending pipe in open field operations to fit the contours of the earth; the excavating of trenches with mammoth earth-moving machinery and the laying of pipe across mountains and under rivers, highways and railroads.

Transcontinental Gas Pipe Lines Corp. is one of the major suppliers of natural gas to distributing utility companies through Southeastern and Atlantic seaboard states.

Edward Hoffer, Club president, will be in charge of the meeting. Neal Rote is program chairman and in charge of the day's program.

A Family Affair?

By William A. Doyle
Q. You write that finance should be a family affair and that your Blue-Eyed Finance Officer knows about every stock you buy. I wish I could say that is the situation at our home. My husband has put practically all our savings into stocks. He trades on margin, so, all the stocks are left with the brokerage house. I do not know what stocks he buys and sells. I never see any statements from the broker. When I ask my husband, he never gives me a direct answer.

Who has the power to sell the stocks in my husband's margin account? How do I know the broker is doing the right and honest thing, especially if one never sees the brokerage statements?

A. Somebody sees those statements. And that somebody, no doubt, is your husband. He should receive a "confirmation statement" each time he buys or sells some stock — listing the price, commission charge, etc.

And he should receive a "condition statement" every so often—(most likely once a month) listing the stocks he owns and other information about his account — such as the amount of money he owes the broker (the net debit balance) as a result of trading on margin and the interest charges on the amount borrowed.

Assuming that your husband has enough collateral in his account, he alone has the right to buy or sell stocks for his account. The only exception would be if your husband has a "discretionary account"—under which the broker could buy or sell stocks without consulting your husband. If some or all of the market prices of the stocks in your husband's margin account drop far enough, the broker will issue a "margin call." That means your husband will have to put up more collateral — either more cash or other securities. If your husband doesn't meet that margin call, the broker has every right in the world to sell the stocks in your husband's account.

As long as the broker involved is with a reputable brokerage house, don't worry about him doing the "right and honest thing." You had better start pressing Friend Husband. It's obvious that he is having all his mail from the brokerage house sent elsewhere — perhaps to his place of business.

That might very well lead to all kinds of complications, if your spouse dies or becomes seriously ill. A wife should be familiar with family finances.

Furthermore, the average family should never trade on margin. And it's simply too risky to "put practically all your savings" in stocks — even when you own the stocks outright, without any borrowing on margin.

You had better get your hubby squared away, before he starts hooking the living-room furniture. Investing for a family's future is one thing — a darned good thing. Trading on margin and keeping financial secrets from a wife or husband are entirely different things—darned dangerous things.

USSR Sends Fish To Castro's Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro announced yesterday 15,000 tons of codfish are due to arrive in Cuba soon from the Soviet Union for sale in the rural areas.

The announcement, appearing in the Communist newspaper Hoy could mean an end to such fish shipments from Norway, which has been Cuba's chief supplier of cod.

Methodist Church will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at South Sterling. The Chapel Choir will practice at 2 p.m. at Hemlock Grove.

Some Disabled Veterans Will Benefit By New Law

VETERANS with either a service-connected kidney disability or a service-connected loss of sight in one eye may benefit by a law passed by this session of Congress and signed by the President recently, the Veterans Administration points out.

The new law authorizes the VA to grant a total service-connected disability rating for the payment of compensation to any veteran with service-connected blindness of one eye who loses the sight of the other eye after service. In a like situation, the new law
